

Women and Money – Taking Control of Your Financial Future

FREE Financial Well-being Webcast

Thursday, March 10, 2022, 12:15-1:15pm

This month's webinar looks at the financial experiences and behaviors among women, based on the findings of a recent Prudential research study. The study found:

- Only 33% of women surveyed feel they are on track or ahead of schedule in planning and saving for retirement.
- 31% said a shortage of disposable income was their greatest financial planning hurdle.
- Women are more confident of meeting short-term goals, but healthcare and college costs are a growing concern.

The Team Member Resource Center is here to help. Join us on Thursday, March 10, from 12:15-1:15pm for the Women and Money – Taking Control of Your Financial Future webcast hosted by the financial experts at Prudential.

This webinar will cover the results and observations from the recent study and share information on how to meet the greatest financial challenges women may face.
