Education and Experience

MSN, RN – I have been a nurse for 35 years and in leadership roles for 32 years.

My experience includes:

- Nursing: Critical Care, Home Care, Medical Staffing, and Practice Management
- Leadership Roles: Clinical and Administrative Operations, Practice Administration, Corporate Health, and Population Health

When did you know you were ready to step into a leadership role?

In my early career, I worked night shift at Bethesda Oak and Good Samaritan Hospital. As a night shift nurse, you were frequently the charge or unit nurse, which was my first exposure to leadership. I liked having to figure out solutions to problems and working with others. From there, it was just a natural course of additional responsibilities which led to a variety of leadership options. Some of these options, like running a national staffing company, just happened. I have always explored opportunities presented and never shied away from something that was a little scary. Making mistakes but stretching beyond my comfort have helped me grow considerably as a leader. And of course, having terrific and selfless mentors along the way.
